The project to construct a new build has achieved a number of key objectives: it has doubled the capacity of the sanatorium to 78 patients, improved the quality of care and the comfort of clients (i.e. children and their accompanying persons) and created better working conditions for approx. 35 employees.

The design draws inspiration from the natural beauty of the Moravian Karst Protected Landscape Area. The result is a modern and architecturally striking building that respects the natural environment and its surroundings, while also being highly functional, efficient and equipped with state-of-the-art technology. The project adheres to passive building requirements and employs renewable energy sources. The choice of white in the building's exterior references the local limestone.
